IFLR1000
WOMEN LEADERS

McKinney, Bancroft & Hughes is delighted to announce that our very own Kimberley A. Rolle has been recognized in the 2022 edition of IFLR1000 Women Leaders and is one of only three lawyers from The Bahamas to be named in the guide.

This recognition is awarded to leading female transactional lawyers throughout the world. IFLR1000 Women Leaders are individuals at the very top of their professions in their fields locally, who have impressive track records and are consistently recommended by clients and peers for the quality of their advice and service.

According to IFLR1000, the Women Leaders are “the most prominent female lawyers working in the areas of law we research (financial and corporate transactions and contract, licensing and regulatory project work) within their jurisdictions.”

The accolade underscores not only the strength of McKinney, Bancroft and Hughes in the region but also the continuing work being done at the firm to promote inclusion and diversity and the advancement of women.

Kimberley A. Rolle is a partner in the firm and her expertise is primarily focused on commercial and corporate law, real estate and project finance. She is Chair of the firm’s Corporate & Commercial Transactions Practice Group, Chair of the Real Estate Practice Group and Vice Chair of the Immigration Practice Group.

Her client roster includes individuals, domestic companies and large multinational entities and she has been involved in many major projects and developments in the jurisdiction.

Commenting on the recognition, Kimberley said “I am grateful to have been recognised in this list for a second year. Across McKinney, Bancroft & Hughes, women account for more than half of the firm and this is well reflected at our senior levels.”
